Senior Pastor

The talent and gifts of members of SouthCentral have yet to be seen. Endless numbers of you have great and wonderful skills that can be used in the Masters vineyard. Many don't even use their own gifts to bless and benefit themselves and their families. I hope that as we continue this spiritual journey that we will celebrate what God has given each person individually and what that can mean when we blend it together. We will be a more Christ-like church when we learn this all important principle. We can always accomplish more together than we can alone!

I want to thank all of you who are working overtime for the Lord. (If there is such a thing). I do know that there have always been those who did the extras and went beyond. How blessed we are to have them and more on the horizon. It is seen as you work with the young people for the upcoming Bible bowl and Youth Extravaganza. It is seen in the power of two with the brothers who watch the parking lot and guard our cars. Of course there have always been the teachers who put in more time at home preparing than they do at church teaching. And there are the singers who practice while others leave and go home to make sure that the next worship service is more than the last. The list is endless and God gets the glory and SouthCentral Church gets stronger.

Our church schedule and calendar is going to change in the months to come. We will be delivering a different set of challenges for the members of SouthCentral, their families and their guests. We are always in need of more workers who want to be committed to the Christ and the Church. You will hear announcements of different needs and skillsets that are needed as we implement new programs. Seriously and sincerely pray that when those challenges come forward, that you will be ready and willing to respond,

In preparation for the near future, we will be changing our Bible class schedule. I will be teaching a special women's session called "Stuck: the places we get stuck and the God who sets us free." Meanwhile, our men will be studying from the book "Kingdom Men." A portion of the men's session will be spent in training for working in the service. These two classes will make up our Sunday morning adult studies, while Wednesday nights will be a combination of different studies from the Bible.

We have begun a Health & Wellness Ministry and it's encouraging to see those who are interested not only in being involved, but in securing the services such a ministry offers. It's not too late to sign up. The list is in the foyer. Put your name down as soon as possible. We are especially those who work in the health profession.

The annual BIRTHDAY CHALLENGE is one of the greatest drives we do as a church family. The 2015 campaign is now underway. We ask ALL members to give their age in dollars. (Many double up because they are so thankful to God.
